Read the following passage carefully then answer the questions below:

Winter is cold in some places. Many plants do not grow during winter. Some plants die. Snow and ice may cover the ground. It can be hard for animals to find food during winter. Animals get through this time in many ways. They manage to live in the coldest weather.

Birds and butterflies can fly. Many of them do not stick around for the winter. They leave. They go to a place with nice weather. Then they come home in the spring. We call this migration. Migrating is a good way to avoid the cold.

Another good way to avoid the cold is to sleep through it. Many animals hide during the winter. Their bodies slow down. They save their energy. They do not eat. They live off of their fat. They do this until food returns. Animals like snakes, lizards and bears stay inactive as they spend all winter sleeping or resting.

Some animals store food in their homes. They do not sleep all winter, but they do much less. They live on what they saved in the summer and fall. This is what camels and bees do. Ants do this too.

Did you know that heating and cooling can change objects? Some changes can be reversed, which means the object can go back to the way it was before it was heated up or cooled down. Other changes cannot be reversed, which means the object cannot go back to how it was before it was heated up or cooled down.

Water can go through reversible changes when it is heated or cooled. When water is heated up, it starts to boil, and then turn into water vapour. If you collect the water vapour and cool it down, it will turn back into water. When water is cooled down a lot, it will turn into ice. If you heat the ice back up, it will turn into water again.

Have you ever watched someone cook an egg? Eggs go through a change that cannot be reversed when they are heated. When the liquid egg white is heated, it turns into a solid. If you let the egg cool back down, though, the egg white will not turn back into a liquid.
